

YOUR EYES

Do They Trouble You?

SOME DIFFICULTY IN SEEING.

Perhaps some smarting sensation, constantly rubbing them to clear away the cobwebs, which won't clear. It is only one of the many forms of eye trouble, which are corrected by the use of proper glasses.

Our business is to thoroughly test the eyes, and prescribe for them such glasses as will overcome the trouble.

Surprising how a proper glass will relieve the eyes, how soon the pain and discomfort disappears.

We prescribe only when necessary, and will cheerfully tell you if no glasses are needed.

PHILIPPINE SUGAR

Expert Says Industry Is Hazardous Now.

Lieutenant John Koster Denies That He Made an Investigation in Manila for Claus Spreckels.

The "American," published at Manila August 14, contained the following:

Claus Spreckels, the "Sugar King," contemplates investing some of his surplus capital in the Philippines, and the commencement of operations on his part is likely to stir up things commercially. Spreckels' investments will probably be influenced by the report which Lieutenant John A. Koster, the Adjutant of the California Heavy Artillery, takes home with him. Lieutenant Koster's father, John L. Koster, a well known millionaire of San Francisco, is largely interested in the enterprises of which Spreckels is the head, and their partnership has been in existence over thirty years. Both the senior Koster and his son are very close friends of the big sugar manufacturer, and Spreckels places great confidence in Lieutenant Koster's judgment.

It is stated that one of the first schemes which Spreckels may engage in is the erection of a mammoth ice factory and cold storage warehouse in or near Manila. During the time he was stationed in Cavite Lieutenant Koster figured considerably on this undertaking, and looked around not a little for the best available location. No contracts have been let, nor is it positively known that the site has been purchased, but if the plans already formulated materialize, it is thought that the projected ice factory and cold storage plant will be laid before next February.

It is also probable that Spreckels will be interested in the proposed line of steamships from San Francisco to Manila.

Lieutenant Koster said recently: "I did not represent Mr. Spreckels in any capacity while I was in the Philippines, but I made casual inquiries into several business propositions. My father wrote me to watch for good business opportunities, and I did so."

"I found nothing enticing in sugar prospects and in fact came to the conclusion that the industry would be too hazardous to undertake. There are, however, many good chances in Manila for business men who have or can control a moderate amount of capital."

"Mr. Spreckels knew all about sugar prospects in all the South Sea Islands long before the war broke out, and he had no occasion to seek further information. The article in the 'American' is a surmise based on a casual remark that Mr. Spreckels might invest in the islands if good prospects were in sight. I have not made any reports on anything to anybody."

A FILIPINO UNIFORM.

Would Fit a Twelve-Year-Old Boy—Made of Bright Colors.

Among the interesting trophies soldiers in the Philippines have sent to Des Moines is a uniform which Frank Merrill, of Company H, son of Jeremiah M. Merrill, of No. 1204 East Ninth street, took from a captured Filipino and sent to his parents in this city. The uniform is patterned somewhat after the Spanish uniform, and is quite fantastic for use in war times. The red and yellow combinations so popular with the Spaniards appear on the blouse of the uniform.

Some idea of the inferiority of the Filipinos and their insignificance as compared with Americans can be had from the size of the uniform. It would be a good fit for a 12-year-old American boy, and it is easy to believe all that has been said concerning the diminutive Filipinos after examining his uniform.

The trousers of the uniform are of red calico and are made regular pajama style, being tied at the top with a drawstring. Along the outer seam of the legs are stripes of black velvet. The blouse is made of heavy cotton material, which is woven with alternate pin stripes of white and black. The collar of the blouse is of red calico and is adorned in front with two stripes of yellow calico. The cuffs of the blouse are also of red calico, and bear three stripes of yellow. The front of the jacket bears six stripes of red and yellow calico combined.

Altogether, the costume looks as if it might have been designed by some child who had a fondness for bright colors. The sewing on the garments has been done with a sewing machine and the blouse has been fastened with hooks and eyes and buttons similar to those in common use in this country.—Des Moines (Iowa) Capital.

OBEDIENT TO THE LETTER.

Bobbie's mamma—Now, mind, Bobbie, if they pass you the cake a second time at the party you must say "No, thanks, I've had plenty," and don't you forget it.

Hostess (at the party)—Won't Bobbie have some more cake?
Bobbie (who hasn't forgotten)—Nope, thanks, I've had enough, and don't you forget it!
